

Polyseal

Soil Stabilization Using Structural Foam

Problem

Voids/loose soils created by earthquakes, high water tables, poor compaction, and melting permafrost can cause settlement and damage to structures.

Solution

High pressure deep injection using structural polyurethane geo-foam offers a fast, effective solution for stabilizing beneath structures. This high-strength, lightweight foam is injected into the ground where it expands to fill voids, bind soil particles, and increase stabilization against future damage.

Questions?

Contact Polyseal Today!

Phone: 907-745-7325

Email: info@polysealinsulation.com

